Why deposit by contractual obligation

The main function of deposits by contractual obligation is to ensure the long-term preservation of the film and its documentation materials. All deposited elements are stored under optimal conditions, at no cost to the depositor.

The deposit by contractual obligation covers all films distributed with any of the above funding categories, disregarding on which platform the films are distributed.

Attached to this declaration are the technical specifications of the digital film elements and documentation materials to be deposited. Please note that the technical specifications may have been modified, due to changes in technical standards, in the time elapsed between signing this agreement and the deposit of the material. Therefore producers are encouraged to contact the Swedish Film Institute before depositing any material to ensure to have an up-dated version of the technical specifications, and to get an ID with which to label the delivery.

Regarding the deposit of film elements, please contact Sakmat-film@filminstitutet.se. Regarding the deposit of documentation material, please contact Sakmat-doku@filminstitutet.se.

The cost of the delivery shall be covered by the depositor.

Elements to be deposited

The film material required is a distribution element of the version(s) screened of the film.

If only encrypted elements can be deposited, a studio key (DKDM) shall also be deposited. Upon receiving a studio key, the Swedish Film Institute will preserve an un-encrypted version of the film. Please contact the Swedish Film Institute prior to the delivery of the DKDM in order to get a valid certificate to which the key can be generated.

If a film exists in multiple formats and/or versions, the Swedish premiere version in highest possible quality is to be deposited. Please contact the Swedish Film Institute prior to the deposit to get confirmation of which version(s) to deposit.

The documentation material required are dialogue list, music score sheet, printed and digital PR material, printed posters, stills and two DVD copies.

If the Swedish Film Institute upon inspection finds that the deposited film elements and documentation materials do not meet the requirements, new material have to be made and deposited without any cost for the Swedish Film Institute.

Upon request from the depositor, the Swedish Film Institute is obliged to give access to contractually deposited film elements within four weeks, only charging a handling fee.

The Swedish Film Institute has permission to use all contractually deposited documentation material in its daily activities.

By signing this declaration, I accept the above conditions and terms for the deposit by contractual obligation of film elements and documentation material.
